

MAG 36

COMMANDING OFFICER'S

SAFETY POLICY

The Marines, Sailors and Civilians of MAG-36 are priceless assets that must be preserved. Occupational and recreational injuries can be prevented if risks are identified and appropriate steps are taken to prevent injury, damage, or loss. Safety requires commitment of all personnel to be truly successful, so as the Commanding Officer of MAG-36 I require each of you to maintain a constant awareness of: (1) What are you doing? (2) Why are you doing it? (3) What risks are involved? & (4) How are you going to mitigate these risks? SAFETY MUST NOT, AND WILL NOT, BE SACRIFICED FOR EXPEDIENCY OR CONVENIENCE. Everyone within MAG 36 is empowered to resolve safety issues. There will be no reprisals when safety concerns are brought to the attention of this command. We must all adhere to the following principles that are at the core of our commitment to safety:

- Seek improvement in everything you do.
- Identify hazards and take actions to correct them.
- Use Operational Risk Management to weigh decisions.
- Strictly adhere to published standards; use sound professional judgment
- Be responsible and accountable for your actions.
- Break the chain of events that lead up to an accident before the accident occurs.
- Aggressively challenge the actions of others if unsafe conditions become apparent.
- Practice Motor Vehicle Safety as a daily part of your routine.
- Remain consistent and unrelenting in not accepting the operation of down or marginal systems.
- You are a United States Marine. Live, work, and fly to that standard.
